Fagor America Introduces Side-Opening European Convection Oven Models

Lyndhurst, NJ - Fagor America is introducing two side-opening convection oven models to its major appliance line.

The new 24" side-opening convection ovens are equipped with left and right side opening doors. This design provides for total access to the interior of the oven. You no longer have to reach for the food over a hot oven door. It also offers consumers an oven choice that will suit the layout and limitations of any kitchen.

The European convection system features a unique third heating element that surrounds the convection fan to circulate pre-heated air for even distribution and also allowing for faster cooking.

These ovens come complete with 8 cooking programs, retractable controls, ventilated steam outlet, easy to clean enamel, and a child safety lock. For pizza lovers, there is a pizza function for the perfect crisp pizza every time!

These ovens feature a stylish Stainless Steel trim, digital display panel and Celeris function. Celeris is a preheat booster for recipes that require the oven to be pre-heated. It ensures the ideal cooking temperature is reached in less than 5 minutes, helping you reduce the overall cooking time.

Suggested Retail Price is $749.00 USD per unit for the 24" side opening ovens. Both models are currently available.
